

Charlie and Sir Paul

CHARLIE GRACIE was the FIRST Philadelphia native to break out nationally and internationally at the start of the Rock 'n' Roll Era. He was the FIRST artist on the CAMEO-PARKWAY record label to have hits - bankrolling the company, enabling it to launch the careers of a dozen successful artists.

Charlie was the FIRST solo American rock 'n' roll star to bring the music to the British concert stage:

Paul McCartney, the late George Harrison, Graham Nash, Peter Noone, Van Morrison, Ray Davies, and Joe Cocker are among his biggest music admirers. Charlie continues to be a great musical ambassador for the city of Philadelphia - traveling and performing to audiences world-wide. His career has now spanned 54 years!

Charlie with Graham Nash

Charlie onstage with Van Morrison

